How to...

Publish
Open Access
in Brill journals

Author Guide
A step-by-step guide to publish your article in Open Access

1. Prepare
   - Select the journal of your choice on www.brill.com
   - Review formatting requirements via ‘Submit Article’

2. Submit
   - Click ‘Submit Article’ on your journal’s page
   - Complete the submission steps on the journal’s dedicated Editorial Manager page*
   - Make sure to fill out your affiliation using the autofill-option and include your institutional email address

3. Open Access
   - Select ‘Open Access’ in the submission menu
   - Rightslink works on behalf of Brill to coordinate the Open Access process
   - Make sure to fill out your affiliation once more, which will result in 100% discount = waiver of APC as per the Brill-CSIC Agreement 2023-2024.
4. Review
• Your article is in editorial and peer review.
• Brill aims to deliver peer review turnaround times of 3-5 weeks.

5. Final decision
• Your manuscript is accepted for publication.
• Complete your Open Access license to publish.
• Brill’s default Open Access license is CC-BY to ensure you automatically adhere to Open Access standards and policies from institutions and funders around the globe.

6. Publication
• Production: typesetting and proof reading
• Verification of your eligibility for Open Access
• The article is available in Open Access on brill.com
• Usage statistics are available on the article’s webpage
• *Not all journals work with Editorial Manager submission software.

• Brill has implemented multiple eligibility checks across the full publication process to ensure all eligible authors are identified and can benefit from Open Access. This applies to all journals, including those that do not use Editorial Manager.

• Feel free to flag Open Access at any point in the publishing process. We also accommodate conversions to Open Access if needed.
